Education

- Ph.D. Candidate in Mathematics Concentration in Statistics, Texas Tech University
Dissertation: Structural and Compositional Statistical Analysis of Protein Binding Sites
Committee: Dr. Leif Ellingson (Chair), Dr. Alexandre Trindade, Dr. Fangyuan Zhang
- M.S. in Statistics, Texas Tech University, 2021–2023
- B.Sc. in Statistics, University of Peradeniya, Sri Lanka, 2015–2019

Research Interests

Functional data analysis, object data analysis, statistics on manifolds, multivariate analysis, biostatistics

Professional and Teaching Experience

- Graduate Part-Time Instructor (Instructor of Record), Department of Mathematics and Statistics, Texas Tech University, Aug. 2022 – Present
Responsible for full course delivery, exam preparation, grading, and student support for 80–120 undergraduate students per section. Courses taught:
 - MATH 2300 – Statistical Methods
 - MATH 1330 – Introductory Mathematical Analysis I
 - MATH 1331 – Introductory Mathematical Analysis II
- Graduate Teaching Assistant, Texas Tech University, Aug. 2021 – Aug. 2022
- Research Assistant, National Institute of Fundamental Studies, Sri Lanka, 2019 – Aug. 2021

Research Projects

- Ph.D. Dissertation: Functional and shape data analysis of protein binding sites using geometric statistics and high-dimensional modeling techniques.
- An Analysis of the Decomposition of Distances Between Covariance Matrices of Protein Binding Sites: First-author paper currently in final draft stage as part of Ph.D. dissertation work.
- Air Pollution and Hospitalization: Published first-author paper analyzing short-term effects of PM_{2.5}/PM₁₀ on respiratory disease hospitalizations in Kandy, Sri Lanka.
- National Burden of Disease Study (Sri Lanka): Estimating YLL from 1997 to 2014 using national civil registration data. (First author; manuscript in final draft stage)
- BMI Trajectories and Asthma Risk: Published second-author paper based on longitudinal analysis of parental BMI trajectories and asthma risk in offspring using cohort data.
